Coolidge Demands Better Air Fleet For U. S.

BUDGET ROW OVER NAVY PROGRAM LOOMS

Battleship Waning, Defense Of Future Aerial Units, President Believes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Maintenance of a bigger and better air fleet and decreased expenditures for battleships are to be features of the future policy of the United States navy, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon.

President Coolidge believes that the circumnavigation of the globe by air, now almost completed by American army flyers, has demonstrated.. conclusively that the day of the battleship is waning and that the principal arm of the national defense in future years must be the aerial units.

The navy department is now engaged, officials said, in determining how much appropriations for battleship maintenance and repair could be slashed so that the money thus saved could be turned to the development of military airplanes and airships.

Discuss Problem

This new naval policy was made known at the White House following a cabinet meeting in which the naval budget problem was discussed.

President Coolidge was said to be determined to keep the budget for the fiscal year 1925-26 small enough to roll up a surplus at the end of the year, but, at the same time, wanted the American navy to be developed along the most modern lines, and in such a way that its fire effectiveness would not be impaired.

President Coolidge was said to

CITY REACHES POPULATION OF 54,000

Facts and Figures Indicate Glendale Continues In Its Steady Growth

The population of the city of Glendale at present is not less than 54,000, it was estimated at the city hall today. Here's the evidence:

An addition now being made to the Glendale sub-station at 116 North Howard street, to allow more room for switchboard panels and voltage regulators, reveals the significant fact that the kilowatt load of the city has doubled in the past two and one-half years.

Presents Figures

During the year 1921 5,659,000 kilowatts were sold to Glendale consumers, according to records in the office of Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production; in 1922 there were sold 7,504,000 kilowatts; in 1923 the consumption was 9,408,000 kilowatts; and during the first eight months of 1924, a ttal of 7,433,000 kilowatts were used, while 400,000 kilowatts were saved, at the request of the Southern California Edison Co.

Even with continued conservation, Mr. Diederich estimates that at least 11,500,000 kilowatts will be the total 1924 consumption. These figures show that for over three years, a 35 per cent increase per year has been registered.

More Evidence

While these figures, alone, do not give an accurate index of the LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—The greatest progress against the fire raging in Angeles forest since it started more than two weeks ago was announced today by federal and county forestry officials combatting the blaze.

Two backfires, one of six miles, from Monrovia peak to Clamshell canyon, and one of three miles, from Monrovia peak westward, were completely successful, it was announced and have established what is believed to be an impassable barrier to the flames for a stretch of nine miles.

Backfires Avert Crisis

Greeley, head of the forestry service, who is in active charge of the war against the flames, declared he would not be satisfied until the fire is out because of the unfavorable conditions of the brush and tree country.

PEKING, Sept. 16.—China's newest warfare may be fought with umbrellas.

Eight thousand of the rain-shedding implements have been sent to the front for the use of the Chekiang army, according to reports received here. The umbrellas were held by the leaders to be more necessary than guns because of the continuous heavy rains on that front.

Peking was practically cut off from the rest of the country by rail today due to the commanding of rail facilities for troop transport.

Approaching cold weather is expected, however, to militate against heavy fighting north of Peking, where Chang Tso Lin is preparing for an invasion of Chihli.

REPUBLICAN PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

Leaders of Party In State Hold Caucus; Oppose Factional Warfare

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 16.—California Republicans, in pre-convention caucus here this morning, wrote the main plank of their platform in two words—"party solidarity."

Leaders of the "grand old party" mean to carry the new battle cry throughout the presidential campaign and as the convention got under way today there was little evidence of the factional war which it was feared might arise over state issues.

Agree on Program

The convention slate, as agreed upon in caucus, calls for the election by unanimous vote of Senator H. C. Nelson of Eureka as chairman; naming of thirteen presidential electors agreeable to the state Coolidge forces; unqualified endorsement of the party's standard-bearers — Coolidge and Dawes—and selection of Charles L. Neumiller, a Johnson supporter, as chairman of the state central committee.

Formal election of the central committee chairman, however, will not take place until the meeting in San Francisco next week.

MEN CAUGHT IN MINE BY BIG BLAST CANNOT ESCAPE

Kemmerer Coal Co. Mine In Wyoming Catches Fire, Hampering Rescue

KEMMERER, Wyo., Sept. 16.—Eighty men are feared to have lost their lives today in an explosion that rocked mine No. 5 of the Kemmerer Coal Co. at Sublet, seven miles north of here.

The explosion occurred at 11 o'clock, only one blast being heard.

Great clouds of heavy black smoke that continued to pour from both entrances of the mine two hours after the explosion led to the belief that fire had broken out and that the entombed men had little chance to escape with their lives if any survived the explosion.

One man, a pumpman, who was near the entrance when the blast let go, came out alive.

The explosion tore down much of the timbering near the entrance and it was nearly three hours before rescue workers, hastily gathered at the portal, were able to make their way into the workings.

Near Former Disaster

The explosion is near the old Frontier mine at Kemmerer where August 14, 1923, 200 men were entombed and ninety-eight lost their lives in the gas explosion.

If there is heavy loss of life among the men reported entombed, it will be the second big mine disaster of this year in the Rocky mountain region. The first was this summer when the Castle Gate mine cost the lives of more than 100 miners.

Prince Goes Beneath Stars To Have Seer Read Mind

SYOSETT, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The latest interest of the Prince of Wales, it became known today, is in the occult. Last night at a party at the boathouse of Rodman Wanamaker II at Oyster Bay, the prince was so interested in the mind-reading proclivities of a master mind of mystery who was the star entertainer, that he deserted the dance hall to have his mind read—out on the front porch where no one could hear. The mystic and seer told the prince a few things before the select group gathered together at the houseboat after dinner, but when it began to get interesting, the probe into the occult was transferred out of their hearing. What the mystic told the prince, however, only the twinkling stars overheard.

Monterey Oil Fire Ceases As People Offer Prayer

MONTEREY, Sept. 16.—After a final flare-up early today the great oil fire which has raged since 10 a. m. Monday subsided and today historic Monterey was regarded as again safe. A southwest breeze, a friendly fisherman's wind, saved the romantic town late yesterday when the last of the twelve oil storage tanks exploded. The southwest wind blows seaward at Monterey and out across the bay. For twenty-four hours in Mission church, by roadside shrines and kneeling in their homes before sacred emblems, Italian fishermen and their families had prayed that the saving breeze from the southwest would hold true. That it held true and carried out to sea the last eruption of blazing oil and gasoline undoubtedly saved Monterey from a fiery fate.

SHATTER FORMER SCHOOL RECORDS

Enrollment of Pupils In Eagle Rock Is Greater Than Ever Known

EAGLE ROCK, Sept. 16.—All local school enrollment records have been brcken here, it is announced by C. W. Preston, principal, 885 pupils reporting at the Eagle Rock school alone, while the Dahlia Heights and San Rafael schools both experienced record crowds.

Plans for the addition to the Eagle Rock school are expected to be complete within six weeks, Mr. Preston states, and the new building will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the next semester. Every nook and cranny at the school is now being utilized for class room purposes, and many teachers have been obliged to teach two grades in the same room.

The new building, which has been designed by Mott M. Mason, local architect, will adjoin the present quarters to the east, fronting on Park avenue. The center section will be two stories, and the east wing, where the shops will be located, will be one story in height. The plans are almost ready to be presented for the approval of the board of education.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Snow, 5249 Sumner avenue, have returned home after a busy summer in the northern part of the state. Mrs. Snow taught in the teachers' training school in Berkeley, after which she was joined by Mr. Snow and they took a month's vacation, hunting and fishing in Lake county. They found the Blue lake one of the most beautiful spots that they visited.

Following their hunting trip, they returned to San Jose for the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Snow, father and mother of E. D. Snow. Miss Effie Bell, who accompanied Miss Erna Mae Snow, and the other members of the Snow family, all participated in the beautiful ceremony.

For the past forty-five years, the couple celebrating their anniversary have resided in San Jose and hundreds of friends filled the church for the event. The bride wore a gown from her wedding trousseau. She was attended by Mrs. E. D. Snow as maid of honor, Erna Mae Snow and Effie Bell as bridesmaids. E. D. Snow served as best man with his two brothers, Herbert C. and Henry G. Snow, and Herbert, Jr., attending the groom.

Railroad Suggests That Tujunga Change Name

TUJUNGA, Sept. 16.—Replying to a request from the Tujunga Valley Realty Board that the Southern Pacific Railroad company change the name of a siding near Roscoe, now called Tejunga, to eliminate confusion experienced in many ways with the town of Tujunga, W. H. Whalen, division superintendent, has countered the request by inviting the town to change its name, as it seems to be the dissatisfied party. Mr. Whalen stated that his company was first to use the name and a great deal of expense would be incurred in changing the name of the siding and the railroad company does not feel equal to the expenditure.

Not since 1916 has any wage scale been negotiated in the coal fields.

CRESCENTA NOTES

LA CRESCENTA, Sept. 16.—Death from hemorrhage of the brain was the verdict of the coroner's jury at the inquest held in Fullerton yesterday afternoon in the case of John C. Perkins of 106 East Honolulu avenue. Mr. Perkins was found by the roadside in Fullerton at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon lying on a bench by the property of E. Ross, who called the police ambulance. Mr. Perkins was rushed to a hospital, but died in five minutes. The autopsy was performed by Dr. J. H. Lang under the orders of D. C. Brown, coroner. Dr. E. L. Wemple of Verdugo City, the family doctor of the deceased, was at the inquest, stating that the deceased had been in ill health for the past three years. The body was brought to Glendale today for burial. Besides his widow, Mrs. A. Perkins, there are three children, Marie, Henry and Charles. Mr. Perkins was for a time associated with C. Easton in the real estate business in Verdugo City.

Mr. Perkins' body was taken today to the L. G. Scovern Undertaking Co., in Glendale. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Those who left this morning were C. P. Waste, Earl Young, Claxton Young, Tex Hendrix, A. Lopez, C. E. Davidson and E. Uttley. Tex Hendrix, who was out last week, reports a narrow escape from probable death when boulders loosened by the burning brush crashed down the hillside, one large one dropping through the roof of the cabin where the fire fighters were resting. The men escaped uninjured.

Smoking, Shooting In Brush Land Is Barred

TUJUNGA, Sept. 16.—An amendment to the county fire ordinance of importance to the whole Verdugo Hills district in the prevention of brush fires is the prohibiting of shooting or smoking on any brush land by anyone. The owner of the land is included in the latest amendment. Brush fires in the Verdugo this year have been exceptionally small in number in spite of the dryness of the vegetation. This is ascribed by the authorities to the intelligent co-operation of the residents and others in following the regulations prescribed by the fire authorities.

Figures released on the Tujunga-Sunland fire protection district show that $10,623.68 are to be available to cover expenses of the district for the eighteen months ending December 31, 1925. The assessed valuation of the district, taxable for the purpose, is $2,124,735, with a rate of 50 cents. Included in the budget for the eighteen months are: First payment on Stutz fire engine, $1650; hydrants and water service, $600; hose, $1500; first payment on lot and fire engine house, $2500; fire chief's salary, $3000; wages for volunteer call men, $500; siren and miscellaneous, $873.68.

A hillside home is under construction for Winfield Hartranft, the work being done by Captain James Robbins, Tujunga. The home is located in the Hillhaven tract on Estaban way, and commands a view of the town of Tujunga and the mountains. Built-in features are an attractive part of the building, which will be finished in semi-rustic style, with hardwood floors.

Two Thousand Glendale Boys Sign Petition Asking For 'Y' Building

HIGH SCHOOL DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Voting on Finance Secretary To Be Held Thursday By Association

Exactly at 11:25 o'clock this morning a lively campaign opened in the boys' roll rooms at the Broadway High school, for 100 per cent membership in the student body association and at 12 o'clock sharp the girls took up the campaign in their roll rooms. Tomorrow the same program will be repeated at the Harvard High school.

This followed a big assembly yesterday morning at the Broadway High school, when Leslie Lavelle, president of the student body, spoke of the forthcoming election Thursday afternoon, September 18, when a successor will be elected to Spencer Jewell, finance secretary, who has resigned because of press of other activities, and when roll room representatives to the cabinet meetings will be selected.

Urge Team Support

In order to be eligible to vote in this election, pupils must have their membership in the association paid. This membership of $2 a year entitles the pupil to a ticket admitting to all games of the school year, and carries with it also an annual subscription to "The Explosion," the weekly school paper, President Lavelle told his fellow pupils.

Rick Ryan, captain of the football team, spoke at yesterday's meeting, urging the boys and girls to support the team by buying the tickets and becoming paid-up members of the student body. Principal George U. Moyse, vice-principal A. L. Ferguson and Coach Normal G. Hayhurst all spoke in support of membership in the association.

Mrs. L. Gartier Hurt In Automobile Crash

Mrs. Lewis Gartier of 912 Oceola street, Glendale, was cut by flying glass at 8 o'clock last night when her car collided with that of Antonio Garcia, of 112 West Los Feliz road, at the corner of South Glendale avenue and Windsor road. The injured woman was taken into a nearby house and Dr. Edward P. Swift summoned. He dressed her wounds, which, he stated, were not serious, and she was later removed to her home.

Call Gathering to Prepare Ceremonies For Road's Opening

George B. Karr, second vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, has been invited to attend a meeting that will be held at Sunset Canyon Country club, Friday night, September 19, to plan for the ceremonies in connection with the formal opening of Hollywood way, the four-mile stretch of highway between Ventura and San Fernando boulevards.

The formal opening will be held Sunday, October 12, and representatives of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley and of the Greater San Fernando Valley association will be on hand to assist in preparing the program, as well as delegates from many other organizations.

Daylight Robbery Of Hardware Store Foiled; Nab Thief

A brazen daylight robbery of the Wilson-Bell Hardware Co., 227 North Brand boulevard, was thwarted 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by S. F. Bell, one of the proprietors of the store, who saw the thief making off down the alley with a car containing 250 pounds of white lead. Mr. Bell leaped on the running board, forced the man to run, gave chase and trapped him in the basement of the W. J. Strong home at 241 North Maryland avenue.

While officers from the Glendale police department were on the way over, Mr. Bell sat on the basement door and held the thief trapped. When arrested, he gave his name as Richard Allen and his address as 1507 North Mariposa street, Los Angeles. He was taken to police headquarters, where he is being held pending investigation. Lieutenant W. J. Royle has notified the Hollywood police to come and look the man over, as it is thought he may be wanted there for "jobs" of a similar nature. The man's name and the name of the registered owner of the car he was driving do not correspond.

When brought before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court this morning Allen pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial, which was set by Judge Lowe for October 15. The prisoner is being held under $100 cash bail.

AT RESEARCH HOSPITAL

Ray F. Temple of 601 West Pine drive, is a patient at the Glendale Research hospital.

COMMERCIAL DISTRICTS DENIED

City Planning Commission Makes Decision; Approves Site for Billboard

The City Planning commission last night denied applications for the establishment of commercial districts at the corner of East Broadway and Wilson avenue, at the corner of Western avenue and Tenth street, and at the corner of Sycamore Canyon drive and Sierra avenue. The meeting was held at the City Hall, Chairman T. W. Watson presiding. All the members were present.

In denying these applications, Mr. Watson declared that the general policy of the commission will be to deny applications for the establishment of commercial districts, until such time as a definite zoning policy can be established, which, he intimated, will be some time this fall.

The commission adopted a resolution asking that the City Council take steps to beautify the vicinity of the reservoir at Tenth street, as it was because of the present unsightly appearance of this block that certain property owners had petitioned the commission for the establishment there of a commercial district.

Favors Billboards

The City Planning commission last night approved the application of the Foster & Kleiser Co., Los Angeles signboard advertisers, for a signboard at the southwest corner of South Brand boulevard and Lomita avenue. In approving the application, Mr. Watson recalled that a new ordinance recently passed by the council places the approval of such applications in the hands of the commission.

It was announced that at the meeting next Monday night, September 22, at the City Hall, a general policy in regard to the granting of applications for signboards will be established. It was announced that the night of a week from Thursday, or September 25, there will be a special meeting of the City Planning commission, at the City Hall, when the matter of separating the grades at Los Feliz road and the Southern Pacific tracks will be gone into in full.

Mrs. C. H. Toll Honor Guest at Luncheon

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, was happily surprised today to find herself honoree at a luncheon given by her "home" club, the Tuesday Afternoon club, in the clubhouse on North Central avenue and West Lexington drive. The affair was arranged just on the eve of the opening of the club year to afford Mrs. Toll and officers, chairmen and curators of the club to become acquainted and enjoy an informal social time together. There were forty in attendance at the luncheon.

Knights Templar of Santa Monica on Visit

A delegation of Knights Templar from Santa Monica visited Glendale Commandery, No. 53, last night, to hear of plans for the big conclave in October in Glendale. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and later the Red Cross degree was conferred. Members of the drill team engaged in practice after the meeting was adjourned.

Bride, Fined for Speeding, Secures Return of Cash

Mrs. Lucille Foote, known to Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court as the Miss Tracy whom he fined $15 for speeding through Glendale en route to San Bernardino, on September 6, where she was to be married, came to him this morning and "swapped" her operator's license for the cash, retiring $15 richer and the recipient of some good advice.

"You needn't have been in such a hurry to get through Glendale," Judge Lowe told her. "There is a magistrate here who is not yet too old to perform a marriage ceremony."

Miss Tracy, now Mrs. Foote, blushed and told the judge she would remember that in the future.

Citizens' Committee To Arrange Parade For Boosting Bonds

Enthusiasm for the passage of the bond issues that are to be voted on at the special election on September 30 will be aroused by a parade that is scheduled for Monday, September 29, according to an announcement this morning by L. H. Wilson, chairman of the publicity committee that is working for the passage of the bonds.

The committee will meet tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock to select captains for the various Glendale precincts who will be responsible for getting out the vote on election day, and efforts will be made by the publicity committee to enlist the support of every influential organization in the city to insure a strong vote in favor of the bonds.

Additional literature bearing on every aspect of the bond issues is now being prepared for mailing to all the voters in Glendale.

Girl Sets Cell on Fire, Escapes, Caught

After battling officers of the Burbank police department with fists and teeth, yesterday, following her arrest with two young men in what officers claim was a stolen car, Margie Dubriel, 21, was finally lodged in jail, only to set fire to her cell door and escape.

Finally captured and conquered by sheer weight of numbers, after a chase that led to the outskirts of the city, she was removed in handcuffs to the Los Angeles county jail, where, with Robert L. Ratterlee, 20, and Ed McNeill, 21, she is held on charges of grand larceny. In the possession of the boys, Burbank officers said, was found an assortment of forty automobile keys.

BOOST LITERATURE

A large consignment of Glendale literature was mailed yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce to R. E. Johnston, president of the Exchange club, who left Sunday to attend the annual convention of the National Exchange clubs at Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Johnston will distribute the booklets among the other members of the organization from all over the country during the Nashville meeting.

STICKERS AID IN VISITING FLYERS

Signs on Autos Will Pass Car and Occupants to Aviation Field

Stickers selling for $1 each and entitling an auto and occupants to enter Clover field, Santa Monica, Saturday, September 20, when the world-girding American eagles are expected to alight in the home nest, may be obtained from Secretary M. B. Towman of the Glendale office, Automobile Club of Southern California. Mr. Towman is a reserve observer with the 478th Aero Squadron, under Captain William Fry.

With the arrival in Chicago yesterday of the three history-making ships, Chicago, New Orleans and Boston II, Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith, Erik Nelson and Leigh Wade now have but 2000 miles separating them from victory and world fame, Mr. Towman declares, and at least 10,000 automobiles loaded with people are expected to be at American Legion park, Clover field, Saturday, to greet the trio of super-aces.

Prepare Program

As it is not known just when they will arrive, a full day of stunts has been prepared by Lieutenant Horace S. Kenyon, jr., A. S., commanding officer at Clover field, including a "flying circus," to keep the great throngs occupied till the fliers' planes roar out of the eastern horizon.

The stickers, attractively printed in red, with white and black lettering, are not dated and should the fliers for any reason be delayed, purchasers will gain entrance to the field whenever they arrive. Each sticker bears a serial number. The design is of an American eagle hovering over the globe, at the left, and the three famous planes above it at the right.

Limit to Stickers

Those who journeyed to Clover field on March 17, when the world fliers took off, will remember that the traffic was very well handled at the time, Mr. Towman states, and it is the intention of those in charge of the homecoming reception that traffic shall be equally well handled Saturday.

As there are but a limited number of the stickers, Mr. Towman urges all who wish them to see him without delay.

Miss Norton is greatly pleased over her location in Glendale and is anticipating entering actively into the musical life during the coming season.

BUSINESS MEN GET MUTE EVIDENCE OF NEED HERE

Workers Hold Impressive Dinner at Which Rev. I. Frank Roach of Long Beach Makes Plea For Youth of City

The most impressive evidence of the demand for a Y. M. C. A. building in Glendale that was present at last night's "get away" dinner at the Tuesday Afternoon club that marked the opening of the week's campaign starting this morning, was a petition measuring ninety-three feet long and bearing the signatures of 1908 boys of school age who want to see a fully equipped "Y" erected here for their benefit.

Another sensation came when Will H. Wallace of Long Beach, after urging the Glendale people to build largely and with a vision for the future, tore off his toupee and waved it around his head to encourage his hearers, and when Chairman George D. McDill, who acted as toastmaster, also borrowed the toupee and did some waving with it on his own account.

Messages from Others

Approximately 200 representative business and professional men, united by a common interest in the growing youth of the city, sat down to last night's banquet after Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, had pronounced the invocation. J. Arthur Myers, director of the Glendale Community orchestra, led the community singing at intervals throughout the dinner.

Chairman McDill, who was introduced by David Black, chairman of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. committee, read a number of letters and telegrams from officials of the organization throughout the state wishing Glendale success in its $275,000 drive to build and equip a modern building, and Eaton T. Sams, associate state secretary, read a wire from Harry M. Hill, state secretary, predicting a successful campaign.

Present Leaders

David Black and Charles H. Toll, vice-chairmen of the campaign committee, were presented to the audience and spoke briefly, and the division leaders were also introduced. These are: Lyman P. Clark and Frank L. Fox, of the TNT gang; James A. Newton and R. Ernest Tucker of the Live Yers; H. Park Arnold and Preston L. Hatch of the Go-Getters; and C. W. Ingledue and W. F. Tower of the Bear Cats. Robert Hatch, head of the Glendale Hi-Y club, was also presented.

Speaking for the younger boys, William Goss made a striking plea

Merchants Warned of Shirt Sleeve Swindle

Glendale merchants, and especially druggists, are warned of the old shirt-sleeved trick of picking up a little easy change, that was worked on one member of the local pharmaceutical fraternity within the past few days.

The person working the trick calls up the store and asks that some merchandise be delivered, and asking that change for $10 or some similar amount be sent by the messenger. When the messenger reaches the place where he is to deliver the package he is met by a shirt-sleeved man, who relieves him of the package and the change, tendering the check in payment for the package.

The check comes back from the bank, and investigation shows that the person living at the address given over the telephone never ordered the merchandise at all, and the store chalks up the loss to experience.

Dr. Stratton Buyer Of Glendale Property

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Stratton of Oakland, who have been spending several days in Glendale, have announced their intention of disposing of their property in the northern city and of making their home in Glendale. They have already acquired four pieces of property here, largely through W. A. Horn, local realtor, with whom they have been on terms of close friendship for many years. Dr. Stratton has just returned from Harvard and Washington, D. C., where he was pursuing a post-graduate course of study in the treatment of cancer, in which he has earned a reputation as a specialist.

Still, from thy rocky summit, teach us to war with fate."

AMERICA IN GERMANY

It is interesting, in the face of criticism of the aloofness of the United States in foreign affairs, to consider just how important Americans have become in Europe. Owen D. Young, a member of the Dawes commission, who is now agent-general of reparations payments in Germany, will have, it is said, as much power in Germany as had the ex-kaiser.

He will be in charge of the new gold bank which has a capital of $100,000,000, and has the exclusive right to issue paper currency.

He will become director of the German railways and other industries, revenues from which are to pay, in part, Germany's obligations.

He will be supervisor of the German budget as regards tax collections, expenditures for domestic expenses and payments to the allies, and he will supervise the collection of taxes on customs, alcohol, tobacco, beer and sugar, which are collateral security for the loan.

It will be his duty to enforce the provisions of the law regarding note issues and the maintenance of reserves.

He may demand all documents and statistics he needs.

A German correspondent writes, "Germany has started on the long weary road of paying for the lost war, at the maximum of her capacity, an unnamed but staggering amount, through an unnamed number of years, which will reach long beyond this generation, under a plan devised by Americans and administered by Americans."

Six years after the signing of the armistice Europe found herself unable to settle her war problems until American financiers formulated a workable plan. Then the nations involved were unable to agree upon the provisions of the plan until American diplomats broke the deadlock at the London conference. And now Americans are to administer the plan, Mr. Young to be agent-general until the plan is in successful operation, when he will be succeeded by Parker Gilbert, Jr., as permanent agent-general.

THE LABOR VOTE

The statement of Burton K. Wheeler, La Follette's running mate, that if the country turns its back upon the La Follette ticket, organized labor will find itself in the national scrap can, is ridiculous, to say the least. "This is your fight," he tells Labor, "and not ours, and if we are thrown to the wolves, organized labor will go down with us."

Organized labor is too strong and too well organized to be thrown "in the scrap can" or to be "thrown to the wolves" by the success or failure of any party or administration. It has been able to protect its interests in the past and to constantly widen its influence. La Follette and Wheeler, in spite of their very altruistic motives, need Labor much worse than Labor needs them.

La Follette, likewise, tells the working man that the message of the two old parties is a "message of despair" which offers the people "no way of hope for relief from the burdens which oppress them."

To speak of the modern working man being oppressed and in despair makes high-sounding campaign material, but it is scarcely true. The laboring man has reasonable hours, good wages, and laws to protect his interests. He wants more, of course. So does the millionaire. No matter how much we have, we always want more. But it will be difficult to convince the modern American working man who drives to his job in his own car, and who has a long evening and a week end free to spend with his family, that he is oppressed or in despair.

All three parties are making a bid for the labor vote. But, is there such a thing? Do not American workmen have opinions of their own, and will they not vote according to their own judgment?

MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS

It is reported that the membership of the General Society of Mayflower descendants has been increased by 910 during the past few years and the members have resolved that a closer inspection of records must be made to determine the eligibility of applicants for membership in the society. It is hard to see what satisfaction could be realized through membership in such an organization that was gained by doubtful or fraudulent proof and testimony. To be a Mayflower descendant is an honor and a distinction that anyone might prize, but what we are and what we do is of more importance to the world than who our ancestors were. Certainly one who has tampered with records in order to get into the society is not worthy of the honor.

AMERICANS ARE SPORTS

Americans are apparently of a more adventurous temperament than the people of other nations, according to statistics issued by the French government department of aeronautics. Although France is well to the front in aeronautics and her aviators are among the best in the world, her own people are wary of air travel. During a recent month, the government report states, forty per cent of the people who embarked in airplanes in France were Americans, thirty-four per cent were English, seven per cent were Dutch, six per cent were French and thirteen per cent mixed nationalities.

Americans are always ready to "try anything once," and if they like it, they are very likely to repeat.

ADVERTISING MOTIVE POWER

When asked by a fellow passenger why, after spending millions of dollars in advertising, he did not stop and add the money thus saved to his profit, Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, said: "We are traveling west at sixty miles an hour. Where would we be tomorrow at this time if we took the engine off the train?"

Advertising is, indeed, the motive power of business. It is the thing that keeps merchandise moving, whether chewing gum, automobiles or real estate. Business would stop without its motive power and inversely, the greater the motive power, rightly directed, the greater the speed of the train and the volume of business.

'Sfunny world: We put sick children in outdoor schools to get them well, and well children in close, over-heated rooms to get them sick.

Tomorrow is the day that most people set aside for their physical examinations.

There's many a tip twixt still and lip.

THOU TOO, BRUTUS!

The Airplane

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Recently, fifteen motor gliders started from the Buc aerodrome, in France, on a 1156-mile flight across the country. The object of the flight was to evolve the cheapest form of motor glider with the lowest gasoline consumption. The competitors were not allowed to replace the engines or wings, but were allowed to effect all necessary repairs.

A glider meet was also held at Thoen on August 15 and lasted for fifteen days.

Compare this with the assembly of the grand fleet of Great Britain recently at Portsmouth, where 194 warships passed before the king in review, representing 30,000 officers and men assembled. Here were any number of men and any amount of property whose business was merely to be on parade. They serve no useful end and were entirely reserved for destructive purposes. The airplane, on the contrary, may be used in peace as it is in war, but it may be a machine easily converted to warlike purposes.

Sooner or later the nations of the world are going to realize that prosperity in time of peace is the best preparation for war and that the best means for war, and the most economic, consist in peaceful instrumentalities that can speedily be converted to warlike use.

At any rate, it seems that every indication is that the next war will be fought in the air and will no longer depend upon ships. It seems as though the airplane were making the battleship a back number, just as the battleship has replaced the trireme of old.

By the way, the Royal Aero club of Great Britain recently gave the Britannia trophy to A. J. Cobham for the most meritorious performance in the air during 1923. That performance consisted in a 12,000-mile flight in a De Haviland plane, fitted with a 240 horse power Siddeley Puma engine. The total flying time was 128 hours.

With the establishment of a transcontinental mail route from New York to San Francisco, it looks as though it would not be long before crossing the Atlantic by air would be an established business.

All this has its bearing upon war. And it is a question whether the national defense can better be served by keeping up the old-fashioned army and navy or by directing attention to the air.

There is no one who does not want to see his country properly defended. It is only a matter of vision and judgment.

Horoscope

Astrologers read sinister omens in the skies today. Jupiter, Mercury, Saturn and Uranus are all in malefic aspect.

With so many adverse influences patent at this time many human endeavors may be thwarted and it is well to be wary in all financial matters.

There may be uncertain business conditions which put on the most alluring aspects and encourage speculation.

Persons who bid for public approbation may be greatly traduced while this rule prevails.

Jupiter is in a place threatening to the ambitions of men who hope to profit through the favor of politicians or public officials.

This is read as an unfortunate sway under which to sign any sort of contracts or agreements.

Some sort of scandal that pertains to the misuse or diversion of government money is again forecast.

Saturn frowns today on mines and mining, for there is to be serious misunderstanding on the part of workers.

Farmers who have had reason to rejoice may expect a sudden disappointment, if they cast up their accounts, astrologers predict.

Much dangerous propaganda is to sway workers and the white collar class of wage-earners.

Intrigues and even gross misrepresentations in political affairs may be expected at this time when Uranus is in sinister power.

Art is to flourish in some places rather regrettably for statues of unseemly attributes may be put in place, the seers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a troublesome but exciting year. They should not try to make over their lives at this time.

Children born on this day may be inclined to enjoy life to the exclusion of work, but they are likely to have many talents.

Corn can be varied more quickly by selection of seed than can any other food crop.

Today's Poem

OPEN OCEAN

We two who found the haven
snug and safe—
The riding faultless, sheltered,
pleasant, warm,
Learn now at last how any rope
must chafe,
And put to sea again and face the storm.
Knowing no separate ports at which we touch
Can ever equal this, or offer more,
We know as well, at last, that vessels such
As we were not intended for the shore.

The danger is not small—we count the cost
Of climbing tide and wave, of seeing sail
Across the water, vanishing and lost,
The other—to be swallowed in the gale.
But we are built of too imperious stuff
To rank this harbor-happiness enough.

"But you shouldn't bring it here," he was told.

"Shouldn't?" queried the guest. "That's what my card of invitation says. Look here: 'Present at the door.'"

CROOL CHILD!

"My son," said the fond mother, "You must not shoot craps, for life is just as precious to the poor little craps as it is to us."

THE TYPEWRITER'S FAULT

"Is Miss Keyes a rapid typist?"

"I'll say she is! Why, that girl can operate a machine faster than she can spell."

Get-Together Rinner Opens Big 'Y' Drive

when he said to the men present, "You build this Y. M. C. A. and we, who are boys now, will build the next one."

Walton Andrews, speaking for the older boys, compared the present condition of the Y in Glendale to that of a navy without ships. "The triangle that is the emblem of the Y. M. C. A.," he declared, "stands for spirit, mind and body. We boys in Glendale have the first two qualifications but we seem to have been gypped out of the third."

Display Petition

It was immediately after Andrews' speech that the long petition was unrolled and carried around the room, stretching almost two-thirds of the way around the banqueting tables.

Rev. I. Frank Roach, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Long Beach, the principal speaker of the evening, roused his hearers with the assertion that "if we don't put the emphasis on the Christian part of the Y. M. C. A. we might as well close up and beat it."

"We are listening to the tramp of an army of boys who are marching down the streets of Glendale, the boys who are coming from your own home town, and what are we doing to care for them when they arrive? I always believe that every normal boy will be good if he is surrounded by the proper environment."

"Traitor to Country"

Scoring the present day disregard of law, Dr. Roach declared that the man who violates the eighteenth amendment to the constitution is a traitor to his country, and the example he so sets to the boys of today tends to break down in their minds any respect they may have for the law of the country.

"There is more Christianity in the world today than ever before, but we must keep chivalry alive in our boys' minds, and we must teach the girls that there is nothing in the spectacle of a painted, cigarette-smoking girl to appeal to the mind of the normal, healthy boy."

The next eight days in Glendale are going to be opportunity days, declared Ernest L. Mogge, international secretary in charge of the campaign. Citing the results accomplished in Y. M. C. A. campaigns in other cities during the past year, Mr. Mogge challenged Glendale to emulate their examples and to make the present drive for $275,000 an outstanding success.

"Passing the Buck"

"We need a revival of the civic consciousness," he asserted. "There is too much passing the buck. We must get the right perspective and develop the character of the young men who are coming along to take the leadership in this community."

Mr. Mogge urged the people of Glendale to get behind Rex Kelley, the secretary, and help him in his work here.

Mr. McDill announced the "home town" contest that is to be held at the Harvard High school Thursday night under the auspices of the Glendale Realty board and invited everyone to be present at that time.

The meeting closed with the singing of "America, the Beautiful" and the benediction by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church.

Gerrymander, the word, is derived from Governor Gery, of Massachusetts, who signed a bill adjusting the representative districts to favor his party because the opposing party polled nearly two-thirds of the votes cast in the state.

C. of C. Directors to Hold Meeting Tonight

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 8 o'clock, immediately following the dinner that is to be held in connection with the Y. M. C. A. drive at the Presbyterian church. In the absence of the first vice-president, D. H. Smith, who left yesterday for a visit to his former home in Stewart, Iowa, George B. Karr, second vice-president, will preside.

Marion Garner Hurt When Hit by Auto

Struck by an automobile yesterday as she was alighting from a Pacific Electric car in Burbank, Marion Garner, 6-year-old Glendale girl, was dragged ten feet and severely lacerated, sustaining, in addition, a broken leg. She is now a patient at the Burbank hospital, where it is feared she may have suffered internal injuries. The car was driven by Clyde Stewart of 80 Providencia avenue, Burbank. Police of that city declare charges may be filed against him, as they have ascertained the trolley from which little Miss Garner alighted had come to a full stop before she got off and that she was crossing the street when the automobile hit her.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

POISON IVY (DERMATITIS VENENATA)

Dermatitis Venenata is caused by contact with the poisonous principle of poison ivy, poison oak, poison sumac and the Japanese lacquer tree. This poisonous principle is the resinous sap of the plants. Susceptible persons may be poisoned by clothing, shoes and other personal property that has come in contact with the plants.

There have been several cases reported to medical literature of typical 'poisoning ivy' from handling the Japanese mah jongg boxes. Other boxes, novelties, toy canes, and so forth, varnished with the Japanese lacquer will cause a dermatitis in those who are susceptible.

What causes susceptibility? Nobody knows as far as I can find out. Perhaps our old enemy, lowered resistance, and possible inherited tendencies.

REMEDIES

The preventive remedy advised by Schamberg is the administration, by mouth, of a mixture made of one part of the tincture of poison ivy, five parts of rectified spirits and ninety-four parts of syrup of orange. This is taken (diluted in one glass of water) in increasing doses, beginning one drop after breakfast and increasing one drop after each meal until twenty-one drops are taken. This takes one week in this manner. Then one teaspoonful a day is taken all during the ivy season. (Poison ivy is the most frequent cause of dermatitis venenata.) This causes the system to gradually manufacture a defense against the poison. I have had no personal contact with the remedy or the disease. Don't try to immunize yourself by chewing the leaves! May stop your chewing forever.

LOCAL REMEDIES

Inasmuch as the poison seems to come from the resin, anything that will dissolve it and remove it from the skin is advocated. Strong soap and hot water scrubbing is recommended first, followed by the application of cloths wet with a saturated solution of Epsom salts, or a 2 per cent solution of parmanganate of potassium frequently renewed. Painting the parts with iodin, half strength, has proved effective in some cases, lime water, boracic acid solutions, vinegar and a host of other things in other cases. Take your choice. Better acquaint yourself with the plants that poison you and handle 'em with gloves.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

SMOKING INJURIOUS?

Mr. H.—I had a series of articles recently on the injurious effects of tobacco. Here's a little more information I didn't get into those articles. It will interest you.

Death from angina pectoris, an excruciating, painful disease of the heart due to constriction of the vessels of the heart itself, claims twice as many deaths among men as it does among women. This is thought by some to be due to the fact that men (up to now) have used tobacco so much more than women.

Nicotin was responsible for forty-eight out of 205 cases of disorders of the optic nerve, according to a report made by Androgue, in the Journal of the A. M. A. Five of the cases used cigarettes, but the majority smoked cigars, four or five a day. Androgue makes the statement that alcoholism might have co-operated in these cases.

Tobacco-laden atmosphere is undoubtedly injurious to children, and not without injurious effects on adults when prolonged.

Here's a little review. The excessive use of tobacco leads to a chronic form of nicotin poisoning, with impairment of vision, sometimes to blindness; nervous irritation or exhaustion, a predisposition to neuralgia; "tobacco heart" (irregular, too rapid and sometimes painful; see above); chronic inflammation of the nose, throat and stomach; insomnia, and a few other things. Now will you swear off?

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Rye Raisin Rolls—Sift together one cup each of rye and wheat flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, and one-half teaspoon of salt. Rub into this dry mixture with the finger-tips four tablespoons of either butter or lard and wet to a dough that can be handled by adding three-fourths of a cup of sweet milk. Turn the dough out on a bread board, roll it oblong in shape, sprinkle it with four tablespoons of sugar mixed with one-half teaspoon of ground cinnamon, and dot it with one-half cup of chopped raisins. Roll the dough-sheet up tightly like a jelly roll, and slice it into sections three-quarters of an inch thick. Lay these sections on a greased pan and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Cinnamon Toast—Make toast in the ordinary way but just before serving butter it, sprinkle over it granulated sugar which is barely colored brown by the addition of a little ground cinnamon, and slip the toast slices into an oven for a moment or two—till the sugar melts and forms a sort of brown crust on top of the butter. Serve hot.

Fairy Gingerbread — Although Sunday night's supper calls for "Cake," gingerbread may be substituted if desired. Here is a good recipe: Cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of light brown sugar, then add one-half cup of sweet milk slowly. Sift together not quite two full cups (about one and seven-eighths cups) of bread flour and two teaspoons of ground ginger and combine the two mixtures. Spread this batter very thinly, with a broad knife, on a buttered inverted dripping pan (that is, on the bottom of a meat pan which is turned up-side down) and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Cut in squares before removing from pan.

Buttercup Layer Cake (requested by "A. G."): This, too, would be a delicious cake for Sunday night supper. Cream together one and one-half cups of sugar and one-half cup of butter. Stir in one-half cup of sweet milk, the beaten yolks of three eggs, two and one-half cups of flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, and, last, fold in stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and flavor with on teaspoon of vanilla. Bake this batter in two buttered layer-cake pans for 30 minutes in a hot oven and put together with the following: Buttercup Filling: Heat in a saucepan two cups of confectioner's sugar, one-half cup of butter; when boiling let cook for five minutes, then remove and add one teaspoon of vanilla and stir in one more cup of confectioners' sugar. Frost top of cake with ordinary icing.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

At Sanitarium

Special Correspondence

If you were to take the elevator up to the Solarium at 7:40 o'clock each morning you would hear some familiar airs being played which you would probably recognize as those that accompany Walter Camp's daily dozen, and as you stepped out upon the roof you would see a group of people conscientiously going through series of exercises, waving their arms, leaning this way and that, and breathing in great lungfulls of wonderful, California air. C. G. Macaulay, who has charge of the physical culture work, modifies it to suit the needs of patients who are not strong enough for too vigorous exercise. It is a fine tonic and those who take advantage of it find when they go down to eat breakfast a few minutes later that they do not need a strong cup of coffee to give them a start for the day, as many of them did before coming here. Of course you know that neither coffee nor tea have a place on our menu. Perhaps you wonder what we do give our guests to drink. Well, this morning's menu gave the following beverages: Cereal coffee, Loju, yogurt, grape juice, malted milk, orange juice, hot or cold milk, buttermilk. Perhaps, too, you are wondering what some of these strange names mean. If so, come up some morning and eat breakfast with us and we are sure you will never miss your beloved cup of coffee.

Last night's question box in the parlor, conducted by one of the doctors answered among other things, the question why we do not serve condiments and stimulants such as mustard, pepper, tea, coffee, etc., on our tables. Some day in this column we will give you the reasons, but we have not the space to do so today.

The register shows the following guests since yesterday: Mrs. W. D. Crocker, Pasadena; Miss R. Miller, Glendale; Allen Bullard, Porterville; Roland Christian, Glendale; Mrs. G. W. Meeker, Alhambra; Miss Annie Erlenbach, Inglewood; Mrs. George Thomason, Hollywood; John Naughton, M. D., Riverside; Mrs. J. L. Wilkinson, Los Angeles.

Ice Aids Science to Prolong Human Life

Will the men and women of tomorrow be still hale and hearty after they have passed the century mark? If we may judge by the ever-increasing span of the average human life, we may safely assume that they will.

Science explains that the normal length of all animal life is ten times the number of years required to reach maturity. This would make the average length of human life 150 years. And with the rapid progress made in prolonging human life, the time when a man of one hundred years will be still conducting his business is not far distant.

In the extending of life's span, it is the little things that count. Minor ailments must be caught and checked; and considerable importance is attached to the matter of proper nutrition and personal hygiene.

Clubs, health centers and similar organizations have carried this work into the home; and one of the outstanding results is the increasing use of ice as a means of food preservation. It is pointed out by authorities that ice not only prevents many forms of illness by keeping foodstuffs fresh and wholesome, but likewise assures the maximum amount of nourishment from the food consumed.

CHOSEN CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, former president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has been appointed chairman of the entertainment committee, to have charge of the program to be presented at the October open forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which is being sponsored by the club. The date for the meeting, which will include a dinner, will be announced shortly.

Scientific Methods In Weight Reduction

Some very interesting and striking features in modern weight reduction are to be seen at the Glendale Obesity clinic, 218-219 Lawson building, where the Battle Creek system of scientific weight reduction has been recently installed. The treatment consists of an automatic, deep massage machine that stimulates the circulation and breaks down the fatty tissues. The Battle Creek cabinet bath is next employed in eliminating the poisons from the system. The next feature is unique in that an automatic exercise chair gives to the body the same physical exertion to be had in taking vigorous exercise—with this distinct advantage, however, that all strain is taken off the heart. Weak and flabby muscles are contracted and left firm and solid. The treatment is completed by a soothing massage.

The Glendale Obesity clinic is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. James E. O'Hara. Mr. O'Hara is a World War veteran, having lost his sight in the service. This fact, however, does not prevent him from carrying on. He states that physical blindness is not a handicap, merely a slight inconvenience. Until his arrival in Glendale a few months ago, Mr. O'Hara was employed by the United States government as regional supervisor for the blind in Districts 12 and 13 on the Pacific coast. A careful survey was made by Mr. O'Hara of all Pacific coast cities before deciding on Glendale as promising the greatest future for this business, judging from its wonderful growth.

Electric Washer Is Boon to Housewives

One of the greatest boons to the busy housewife is the electric washing machine and, perusing the catalog of inventions in this line, none have a higher standing than the Royal Electric Washer, it is claimed, which is handled by the Mason Electric company of 113 North Brand boulevard.

In demonstrating this machine, LeRoy E. Mason the proprietor of the Mason Electric company, says "To the woman interested in having thoroughly clean clothes with the minimum of labor and expense, the Royal method of washing is offered as the most advanced and practical solution of the problem; with its especial device, no water is handled, no lifting, it washes, wrings and rinses by power, bringing heavy blankets and dainty handkerchiefs at the same time with equal tension."

Mr. Mason is delighted to demonstrate the Royal Electric Washer to any housewife who can appreciate service, quality and price.

CHAPTER LIII.

Hilary read the letter once; read it a second time. Her face crimsoned and grew pale. Slowly, with her breast heaving, and her eyes narrowed upon space, she crushed it in her left hand, and it dropped to the floor.

She stood up, went to the window, and stood there, in a blaze of shame and pain that shook her from head to foot. All life had stopped, the sky was darkened, there was nothing left. She began to walk to and fro; impossible to stand still.

"Oh—oh—oh!" she said, convulsedly, beating with her closed fists upon the heavy dressing-room door. She dropped on her knees beside her bed, pressed her still locked fists against her forehead, her whole body quivering with the storm of misery that possessed her.

After awhile, still breathing fast and hard, she got up, and went to get the letter, and made herself smooth it out, with hands that longed to tear it and herself to pieces, and read it again. Konrad had written:

My dear:

I did not understand, and for that reason you must forgive me. I knew that some day the wonderful gift of that great heart of yours would be given to some man; how could I know that in your exquisite generosity it had already been given? I am sorry. My first thought was of Butterfly; not as you love, my dear, but she can love, too, and she can suffer. And will you believe that I am suffering and that I hope, when the memory of Friday night is not so new, that you will come to be your poor boy's secretary and stepmother again, and forgive him a moment of madness?

What does the song say? "Take a cup and drink it up." Yours is a hard cup to drink, but I know how brave, how good, how wise you are. KONRAD.

That was all. Hilary read it a third, a fourth time, and then suddenly tore it to small pieces, to tinier pieces, to scraps, and sat smiling darkly at the little heap of white-and-violet spotted bits for long, long while. After awhile she shrugged, laughed suddenly aloud, and then, sighing with sheer exhaustion, rested her elbows upon the table, and put her weary head into her hands. She felt weak, incapable of emotion, and as if she had just passed through a devastating illness.

She could think no longer; she could suffer no longer; she was spent.

He loved Dora. Sickened with its tireless round of monotonous thoughts, yet her mind began again. He loved Dora. And she, stupidly, insistently, shamelessly, had forced him to admit it. He was European, the fact that Dora was Craig's wife would not deter him. He might regret it, liking Craig, but that was all. And he had gently, kindly, generously put Hilary, out of his life; he could like her, he could use her, but love—love was for Butterfly!

"Oh, why, why, why?" she brooded darkly. Must all men love Dora? Was her fair, babyish, confiding beauty absolutely irresistible to men? Dora—little helpless Butterfly, who could not help him, who did not understand him, who was utterly incapable of entering into his life and his work—it was a few years of Dora's softness and sweetness and plaintiveness that he desired! And to gain that, Craig's life, his mother's life, her own, Hilary's, life, must be sacrificed!

But worst of all, his own would be as inevitably wrecked as theirs. Hilary writhed at the thought. He was so much a boy, he so much needed understanding and kindness when his moments of rage and anger and despair came on. The right treatment then, the hot tea and the soothing words, and he was the most lovable, the most abject of penitents.

But what would Dora give him? Why, only the impatient contempt that she gave Craig—Craig, the equable and sweet, the just and balanced husband whom she was already willing to cast aside. Dora's interest in Konrad's profession would always be secondary to absorption in her own position as the artist's wife. "That's his wife in the box," men would tell each other, on concert nights, and Dora, hearing them, would straighten her little bare shoulders and toss back her furs.

That every concert was an ordeal for Konrad, that he returned from them exhausted and nervous and excitable, that he needed a great deal of simple, almost childish, domestic routine to balance the strain of his life, never had occurred, and never would occur, to Butterfly. She would demand of him exactly what she would demand of Craig, who was always amiable, and never had a mood in his life.

Hilary, thinking of it, suffered for them all. She felt Craig's position keenly; she felt for her good friend, his mother. She was heartsick at the thought of Butterfly serenely wrecking her own life; Butterfly would have a year or two of excitement and delight, it was true, but then what? Then there was Hilary's life; she could not go back to Mount Holly, she could not breathe in the city, she could not face a future empty of the big, impetuous, tractable boy who had so suddenly become all her world. She had no world without him; he was the beginning and end of everything.

And the serious consideration was Konrad's self. If Dora proved mad enough to ask for her divorce, if all the hideousness of the open scandal were faced, and if Konrad loved her, then his life was wrecked, too. They were too much alike, they were both children. Dora's childhood had been surrounded by hardships, it was true, but Dora had never faced them. And Konrad had known want and struggle and cold and hunger, many, many times. But his art was for ever young, and in creating and re-creating immortal melody he eternally renewed his own impetuous youth.

Experience in acting is essential to the training of the scenario writer, according to Douglas MacLean, famous screen star.

Each of MacLean's scenario staff has graduated from the ranks of screen players where he attained an enviable record. It is Douglas MacLean's opinion that a scenarist must be able to "feel" the character he creates and that he can only do this after actual experience.

"There are many clever writers," states Mr. MacLean, "who are able to write thrilling and logical plots which, unfortunately, are not adaptable to the screen because the writer is not sufficiently familiar with the technique of the screen. But an actor-scenarist has served his apprenticeship before the camera and knows both the limits and scope of the motion picture camera. He is in sympathy with the player."

Raymond Cannon, who wrote the scenario for Douglas MacLean's new laughing success "Never Say Die" which is showing for the last times today, formerly worked under the banner of D. W. Griffith, playing in many of the great Griffith masterpieces.

Raymond Griffith, who had an important role in "Red Lights" and other recent pretentious screen plays, and Wade Boteler, also a veteran actor, adapted the piece for the screen. Mr. Boteler also plays an important part in the picture and has appeared with MacLean in other of his successes.

A spectacular surprise is offered to Gateway patrons all this week in the form of a special engagement of Herrmann the great, master magician, the last of the world-renowned family who were all gifted in this unusual manner. He offers fantastic comedies and weird problems. Herrmann introduces Mlle. Gladys, the girl with the radio mind, a remarkable young woman who has the power to foresee the future as well as the past and present.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

"A Mad Honeymoon" is proving one of the most hilarious comedies yet staged by Mahurin's Players (Murphy's Comedians) at their tent theatre, corner of Central avenue and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. Last night again a big crowd came to see and was conquered, retiring exhausted with laughter. The curtain rises each night at 8 o'clock, states J. A. Menard, manager.

This play was a recent offering at the Playhouse, New York, where it enjoyed a successful run as a William A. Brady production. It provides every member of the cast with a splendid part. The story has to do with the disappearance of $30,000 in record bonds, which are sewed in the lining of a coonskin overcoat. The coat is planted upon a reformed convict, now an honest chauffeur, whose employer's daughter is to elope at midnight. To prevent this a faithful housekeeper hides the heroine's clothes while she is in the bath, and she, having only a suit of pajamas, elopes with the coonskin overcoat thrown over her lacy attire.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HONEYSUCKLE

The rabbit gentleman one day was hopping through the woods near where some wild honeysuckle vines grew in a thick tangle. And as Uncle Wiggily stood still a moment to breathe in the sweet perfume he heard a voice saying:

"Oh, dear! Isn't it sad?"

"I wonder what can be so sad?" whispered the bunny to himself. "I hope none of the animal children are caught in the tangled vines and can't get out."

Uncle Wiggily looked, to make sure, but saw neither Sammie nor Susie Littletail, Jackie nor Peetie Bow Wow, nor Lulu, Alice or Jimmie Wibblewobble.

"Who said it is so sad?" asked the bunny out loud.

"I did," answered the honeysuckle vine itself, for it talked the language of flowers. "It is sad that we have so much wonderful and sweet honey in our blossoms, and yet there are no bees nor birds that come to get it. And soon the frost will be here and put all my blossoms to sleep—then the honey will be wasted. It is too bad that someone cannot enjoy it."

"I am very fond of honey," said Uncle Wiggily, "but I do not know how to make it out of even such sweet blossoms as you have, Honeysuckle Vine. But I might get a humming bird or a bee to come and take some of your sweet juice. They would make honey for me."

"If you could do that," whispered the vine, "it would be a very good thing. But don't bring any small honey bees here."

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because small honey bees have such very short, little tongues that they cannot thrust them down into my deep blossoms," answered the vine. "It needs a bumble bee with a long tongue or a humming bird with a long, sharp bill to get honey from my flowers."

"I will see if I can bring here a humming bird or a bumble bee," said the bunny as he hopped away. It did not take him long to find a big, yellow bumble bee, who was very glad to know about the wild honeysuckle vine that wanted to give up its sweetness. But it took Mr. Longears a little longer to find a humming bird, since most of these wonderful, tiny creatures had flown to the warm south to spend the winter. But at last a humming bird and bumble bee were taking sweet juice from the honeysuckle flowers to make into honey for the rabbit.

And, all of a sudden, when there was almost enough honey made for Uncle Wiggily to take some home to Nurse Jane, in a little birch bark box, all of a sudden, the Woozie Wolf jumped out from behind a stone and tried to catch Uncle Wiggily.

"Jump deep down in my tangled vines!" cried the honeysuckle. "You, being a rabbit, can easily hide yourself in me, Uncle Wiggily. But the Wolf will be all tangled up and can't get out!"

So the bunny leaped into the middle of the thick honeysuckle vine. The wolf laughed and leaped after the bunny, saying, "You can't get away from me like that!" But when the Wolf tried to run after the rabbit the honeysuckle vine tangled around the legs of the bad chap, throwing him down and holding him fast. So the Wolf couldn't race after the bunny, who, knowing how, crawled out of the tangled vine, down below, close to the ground, and soon was on his way to his bungalow with the honey the bumble bee made for him.

So everything happened for the best, and it was late that night when the Wolf finally pulled himself loose from the tangled vine. And if the postage stamp doesn't try to stick itself over the eye of the needle, so it can't see the thread, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's letter.

Backache Is a Warning!

Glendale Folks Are Learning How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, weak and depressed? Then you should help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of failing kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, before it is too late. This Glendale resident tells an experience:

J. W. Begg, pattern maker, 123 Eulalia St., says: "My back was weak and there was a continual soreness through the small of it. I had a dull, dragging pain across my kidneys and the kidney secretions were unnatural in color and burned in passage. However, Doan's Pills helped me from the start and one box relieved me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Begg had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Y. M. C. A. NEW BUILDING CAMPAIGN

The proposed new building of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. will have a capacity for 2,000 members, and is planned also to serve as clearing-house and community-center for various inter-denominational, inter-industrial and inter-community interests in the city, which, though not directly connected with the Association, but having no buildings of their own, are in need of such a common community meeting place.

The study of similar Y. M. C. A. buildings of modern architecture in 10 typical cities, of an average population of 40,600, and the work now being carried on in these buildings, shows that the Association in these cities has an average of about 2,500 members, and is in possession of a specially designed Association property valued, on the average, at $314,980. Some of these buildings are already over-crowded and require enlargement.

232 Business Men in the Campaign believe that the boys and young men of Glendale are of as great value to, and deserve as much from our community as in any other city in the country. They have decided, therefore, to ask the citizens and friends of Glendale to provide the $275,000 necessary to erect and equip such a modern Association plant for the boys and young men of Glendale. In doing this they believe that they are proceeding along the path of the best experience, and are recommending the most economical use of such a sum of money for the best welfare of our community.

The Executive Committee are convinced that the time has come for action and eight days have been set apart, Sept. 16-23 for a Y. M. C. A. building campaign.

During these eight days, every citizen of Glendale, able to do so, will be given the opportunity of referendum in this important matter. It is believed that the outcome will be thatGlendale will take its rightful place among the cities of 50,000 population that have made provision for the best welfare of their young men and boys, through adequate, modern Y. M. C. A. equipment.

Many people do not realize what a modern Y. M. C. A. building and the work such a building makes possible, mean to the city.

What Is the Young Men's Christian Association?

(an interpretation by C. K. Ober)

It Is An Opportunity for Young Men and Boys

It is a high-grade, low-cost young men's club—Christian, but not sectarian.

It is an athletic organization that does not use men to promote athletics, but uses athletics to develop men.

It is a night school for young men who work by day.

It is a home for young men away from home.

It helps young men not only to help themselves, but to help the other fellow.

It is a place for a young man to find friends and to make himself a friend to the man that needs friends.

It has no creed, but is enrolled by representatives of churches. This keeps it a Christian organization, but prevents it from becoming another church.

It has united in its management members of those churches which, though differing in creed, have found by experience that they can join without controversy or friction in the doing of religious work. This enables it to teach the Bible and to make practical use of Christian forces in helping young men.

Its fellowship, club rooms, gymnasium, baths, classes and all other practical advantages are open to all young men, of all faiths or of no faith.

It is not an experiment but is the survivor of many experiments. While other young men's organizations, social, athletic, educational, ethical and even religious, have failed, this has succeeded and is now in successful operation in over eight thousand places in North America and throughout the world.

It Is An Investment in Young Men and Boys

It is a high-class, far-sighted investment in the greatest undeveloped resources in the world—young men.

It is a wise and economical enlistment of young men themselves in the work of their own development.

It is a philanthropic and also self-interested provision of an all-round opportunity for young men.

It provides a clubhouse; the young men frequent it, and places of questionable resort are closed for want of patronage.

It provides a gymnasium; the young men use it, and put increased health and vitality into their day's work.

It provides a night school; the young men join it, and gain and keep the higher places waiting for skilled labor and efficiency.

It provides the Gospel; the young men practice it, and the community cuts down expenses for asylums, courts and jails.

It provides and organizes the time of men; the best and busiest in the community; the young men respond to it and develop latent powers of character and service.

It invests money; it gets manhood.

It invests sympathy; it gets friendships.

It invests small sacrifices; it gets abundant and deathless dividends.

It invests time and things that might otherwise perish; it gets character that continues and perpetuates itself in vital and constructive forces, for the moral and spiritual uplift of the world.

Its investments are human; its dividends are divine.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO CHANCE

Funeral of Former Manager Of Cubs Probably Will Be Held In Chicago

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—While definite funeral plans had not been arranged today, it was expected services for Frank L. Chance, famous as former manager of the Chicago Cubs and one of the best known figures in baseball, would be held in Chicago.

Chance died here last night at a hospital. He had been sick for months following an attack of influenza and through many weeks had fought a losing battle with the disease, which culminated in the heart attack.

Frank Leroy Chance—the "peerless one"—had the distinction of leading his famous team, the Cubs, to four National league pennants and two world titles. He also managed the Boston Americans, New York Americans, Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league and was about to assume the piloting of the Chicago White Sox when he was stricken with his long illness.

Native of State

A native of California, Chance was only 47 when he died. He was born in Fresno, where his father was a banker.

Chance went to the Chicago Cubs when 19 years old, after a brief career in amateur baseball. His position was as catcher but he soon was playing first base, where he rose to fame. He was a member of the famous Tinker to Evers to Chance combination.

Hill, Murphy's Chum, To Quit Auto Racing

SYRACUSE, Sept. 16.—The tragic death of Jimmy Murphy of Vernon, premiere Yankee motor racer on the New York state fair track here yesterday afternoon, robbed the motor world of two, not one, knights of the track, for Benny Hill, racing partner and chum of the dead man, is through with the game, it became known today.

Hill, his eyes filled with tears, announced his decision to retire as he assisted in carrying the coffin holding Murphy's body to the New York Central train on which it is speeding westward to Los Angeles today.

"I shall race no more," declared Hill, who for six years has himself been an outstanding figure on the motor speedways.

What caused the accident to Murphy's car probably will never be known. The best supposition is that a steering knuckle broke and Murphy was unable to control the wheel.

Refusal of Villa to Fight Injures Game

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Opinion was expressed freely today that legalized boxing had lost further prestige through the refusal of Pancho Villa, flyweight champion, to defend his title against Frankie Genaro on September 23, as scheduled. Villa claimed that he had injured his shoulder in training, following the example of Benny Leonard, whose claim of an injured hand canceled his fight with Mickey Walker this month.

Villa stood today suspended by the state athletic commission for eight months as a result of the cancelation, three physicians testifying they could find nothing wrong with his shoulder.

QUESTION—A punt intended to go out of bounds over the sidelines, so falls that it is doubtful whether it has gone over the goal line at the corner of the sideline or over the sideline without infringing upon the goal line. What official decides whether it is a touchdown, or whether the ball must be put in play at the point on the side line where it went out?

ANSWER—The referee. But if he were in doubt he would seek advice from the other officials.

QUESTION—In a game a forward pass strikes a player ineligible to receive it and is then caught by a defending player. May he run with the ball?

ANSWER—He may.

QUESTION—In a game on a wet day may a ball be changed by agreement by two teams at any time?

ANSWER—No. By a silly rule a new ball may be substituted only at the end of the second period.

QUESTION—After a captain has declined or accepted a penalty as permitted by the rules, may he, upon say a signal from the coach or consultation with players, change his mind?

ANSWER—He may not.

YANKS, SENATORS TIED FOR FIRST

Both Clubs Are Ready for Final Dash; Pittsburgh Prepares to Climb

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—After a long chase, the Yanks were on even terms with the Senators today, with each club primed for the remaining thirteen games in the dash down the stretch. The Tigers closed the gap to four games by trimming the Senators, making it two out of three for the series.

Pittsburgh, only two and one-half games from the lead, prepared to step on the lowly Phillies twice today and climb while the Reds opened hostilities with the Giants. Brooklyn faced the Cards.

The Yankees tied the Senators for the lead by blanking the White Sox, 2 to 0. The champions got only four hits off Red Faber, but made them count as Sam Jones wielded the whitewash brush.

Rip Collins, former Yankee twirler, did his former mates a good turn by shutting out the Senators. The Tigers won 2 to 0 and advanced to within four games of the lead.

Pittsburgh crawled up to within 2½ games of the Giants by taking the Braves over the rapids in twelve innings, 4 to 3.

The Browns made it even-Stephen for the season by taking a farewell kick at the Red Sox, 4 to 3.

Dundee Is Through; Beaten by Bernstein

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Fistic experts today tolled a requiem over the professional career of Johnny Dundee, former world's featherweight champion and American 130-pound titleholder, as a result of the thorough beating he received at the hands of Jack Bernstein for fifteen rounds last night. Bernstein drove the Italian from one side of the ring to the other for the entire distance and only Dundee's great generalship saved him from a knockout.

QUESTION—Runner is on first base and the batter hits a long fly down the left field foul line. Runner thinks it is fair. He goes to third before the umpire calls foul. The ball was not caught. Does the runner have to touch second base as he goes back to first or can he cut through the infield? Umpire called a runner out on a play like that because the runner did not touch second base.

ANSWER—Umpire was wrong. The runner can cut "across-lots" back to first on a play of that kind.

QUESTION—Pitcher steps out of the box and winds up and throws to third to catch the runner who is off the base. The runner is tagged before he can get back. Is it a balk?

ANSWER—Not as you describe it. The pitcher simply threw to third to catch the runner napping which he had a perfect right to do.

QUESTION—Runner is on second. Batter knocks up pop fly. Runner thinks the baseman will not catch the ball and starts for third. Baseman has his foot on the base when he catches the ball. Is it a double out?

ANSWER—It is a double play. The batter was out and the runner for not getting back to the base after the ball was caught in advance of the ball.

PAY TRIBUTE TO PEERLESS LEADER

Baseball Fans Grieve Over Death of Frank Chance, True Sportsman

By THREE STRIKES
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Baseball fans at Washington park, where Vernon meets the San Francisco Seals, joined with baseball fans at Chicago and elsewhere in a lodge of sorrow, mourning the death of Frank Chance, peerless leader of the Chicago Cubs, and for one season manager of the Los Angeles club.

The famed player-manager, who four times won the pennant for the Chicago National league club, died last night in a local hospital, after seemingly having recovered from previous illness which prevented his managing the Cubs this year. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death.

Chance wrote baseball history as manager of New York and Boston American league clubs. Later he went to Chicago, and, after spending several winters on his orange ranch near here, took the management of the Angels, only to be recalled to Chicago this year by Charles Comiskey. A few days in the east found him stricken with a cold and he hied back to the land of sunshine.

The death of Jimmy Murphy at Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday afternoon in a race track crash, recalled the fact that he was a baseball player in his younger days. He also was an ardent amateur aviator. At 28 years of age he leaves an estate valued at $100,000 after having become an international champion in four years of professional driving.

Charles Paddock returned to his "home in Pasadena" yesterday and he announced that while his racing days were over he was going to keep in condition and continue his lecture work on clean living.

Phil Salvadore is going over Johnny Adams coast lightweight title in the main event at Vernon tonight which should intrigue the fans of fistiana. Matchmaker Wadhams has lined up a fast card.

The greatest racing card in the history of any southern California fair is promised at Riverside October 7 to 11 with 114 entries.

Clerk Leaves Legacy To List of Friends

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Some two score old employes of the Hotel Walford are enjoying today the unexpected fruits of a friendship that flourished for itself alone, through many years.

"You could have knocked me over with a feather," said one, describing his amazement at learning that Arthur Fowler, for thirty years a clerk in the drug store in one corner of the famous old hotel, had left a fortune of $40,000 and that he had willed it, in lots of $300 to $500 to his many friends and associates in the establishment.

HOOF AND MOUTH CURE IS CLAIMED

London Doctor Says Disease In Cattle Is Modified Form of 'Flu'

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A claim to have discovered a preparation which both prevents and cures the dreaded hoof and mouth disease in animals is put forward by Dr. John C. Shaw, London doctor and scientist.

Shaw has studied the disease for many years, and says he is justified from his experiments in saying that the slaughter of cattle infected with the disease can now become a thing of the past.

It is calculated that millions of dollars' worth of stock is destroyed annually in the United States alone through the disease, which, so far, has proved to be practically incurable.

Representations are being made to the British Ministry of Agriculture by prominent bodies of English farmers to make wide use of Shaw's discovery during the next outbreak of the disease in England, and they threaten to disallow their cattle to be slaughtered until Shaw's discovery has been fully tested.

"After long experiments I have come to the conclusion that hoof and mouth disease in cattle is a modified form of influenza," Shaw says in his claim.

Advance In Painters' Wage Scale Granted

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Market trading in stocks was entirely of this morning on the Los Angeles stock exchange, it being too quiet for restive brokers. Bonds, however, sold heavily and made up in volume which the board lacked in interest.

Southern California Gas bonds totaling 27,000 changed hands, while 34,000 Sierra Light & Power bonds were sold. Other large sales were 15,000 shares Western States Gas & Electric and 10,000 Edison.

Edison stock was sold light, few others of the utilities showing any life. In the oils, Julian common held at $12.50 and preferred was down from $20 to $19. General Petroleum also was a bit off, selling on its second sale at $40.25. U. S. Royalties sold at $5.

In the mines, Oatman Gold and Hecla sold lightly while Richmond held at $3.50 in numerous sales of small lots.

A depositor wrote this to his bank

"I OWE it to you to maintain a balance on which you can make a profit. I expect you to maintain convenient offices, which means high rents, high taxes and other expenses.

"I call on you for a variety of services many of which were never thought of as a part of banking ten years ago.

"You cannot meet these expenses and render these services unless you are making money. If you make no money on me, then I am riding on the backs of your other depositors. I don't want others riding on my back. I expect therefore, not to ride, but to walk and carry my share of your load."

Claim Shaved Necks Caused 'Flapper Itch'

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—Other and more bothersome style nuisances than fur chokers are encircling the necks of Pittsburgh flappers this summer, according to Chief of Police Surgeon Daniel Sable.

"Flapper itch" is the newest trouble to locate on or about that part of the neck just below where the young girl's brain is supposed to be, and Dr. Sable asserts it's getting serious.

The malady—which has affected hundreds of women, particularly girls of high school age—was discovered by Dr. Sable while he was on vaccination duty. It is caused by frequent neck-shaving required for the perfect bobbed-hair effect. "Flapper's rash" is another name for it.

"The tender skin of young girls is severely affected by frequent shaving," Dr. Sable declared. "The only cure is to discontinue shaving, and most of the girls, particularly brunettes, refuse to accept this cure."

Farmers Urged to Use Shotguns on Tourists

STERLING, Conn., Sept. 16.—"Fire when you see the whites of their eyes!" was the order given at Bunker Hill years ago—and repeated here when farmers stormed the local justice of the peace asking how to protect their growing crops from the ravages of motor parties that have been sweeping the countryside.

"Load up your shotguns and pepper 'em!" said the justice. "Lie low and fire when you see the whites of their eyes!"

As an alternative the natives were advised to shoot at the tires of motor cars, which often are parked beside a cornfield, while a party of tourists are busy stripping all the corn they can carry. A detail of state police is expected to be sent to protect the farmers.

TILE BATH AND SINK
$6700—$2000 CASH

You may have looked at many of the 5-room houses which are being offered at approximately $6500; if so, you will be in a better position to appreciate just how much more you are being offered in this house.

The location is ideal; close in, and yet in a restricted locality, with attractive homes all around it. Wonderful view of the mountains.

Construction is the best. Not built by ordinary contract labor, but instead by a skilled builder who does practically everything himself, and who takes pride in his work. Colonial type, with splendid shingle roof; large porch at front and rear. The living room is large, with a real fireplace; Batchelder tile mantel; dining room attractive, with every necessary built-in convenience. The kitchen is ideal, tile sink, of course, and every little feature which a woman appreciates; no nook, but instead a delightful little breakfast room, for table and chairs; the screen porch is roomy with a place for refrigerator, electric washer, broom closet, etc. The bedrooms are large with plenty of room for twin beds if desired; light and attractive, with plenty of closet space. Tile bath, with shower.

You can't find the equal of this house in Glendale for the price, only $6700 and a $2000 cash payment will handle.

CHICAGO TEMPLE TO BE DEDICATED

Skyscraper Methodist Fane To Display Cross In Blaze of Lights

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Dedication of the Chicago Temple, the skyscraper Methodist church, in the heart of the downtown business section, has been set for September 28.

A golden cross topping the spire of the temple, Chicago's highest building, will be illuminated at night. For miles around it will be visible, an inspiring fiery symbol against a background of black sky. Lights trained on the temple will make it stand out in an imposing contrast to the drab commercial surroundings. A $50,000 organ, a memorial to Norman Wait Harris, and chimes costing an equal amount, a memorial to George W. Dixon, will be heard over the roar of elevated trains, surface cars and other street traffic.

Cost $4,000,000

Twenty-one stories are topped by a steeple rising 556 feet above the ground. There are floors devoted to commerce, and others devoted to religious educational work, an auditorium seating 1,400 persons, gymnasiums and study rooms, with doors open day and night. Total cost of the temple, for which many carloads of stone were dug from the hills of Southern Indiana, is estimated at nearly $4,000,000.

At the dedication Bishop Edwin H. Hughes will officiate, assisted by the pastor, Dr. John Thompson.

Delegates will be James A. Apffel, Joseph Fortunato, Jack Hearnshaw, Ray Galvin, Stanley Frentz, Fred Fish, Joseph Kliebert and John Roman.

It is reported that all the cottages reserved for Glendale have been taken.

Special P. E. Train

A three-car Pacific Electric train is to leave South Brand boulevard and Colorado street at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, going directly to Wilmington. Members going are urged to use this means of transportation and eliminate the necessity of driving through traffic and parking at the pier. However, those desiring to motor to Wilmington will find ample parking places. Tickets can be procured at special reduced rates.

Diversions of every kind have been arranged by the committee in charge and the women attending the convention will be royally entertained.

A big parade will be held Saturday afternoon, and the final event will be the grand ball Saturday night.

A serious situation prevails at Urga, the Mongolian capital, where business is at a standstill. Many American, English and other foreign residents are being denied permission to leave.

Russian Soviets Active

Mongolia, a part of the old Chinese Empire, has a separate government. The Russian soviets have been making powerful efforts to gain control of the country and were said to have obtained virtual domination.

In an effort to reach the Woosung forts and clear a pathway to Shanghai, the Kiangsu forces tonight launched a strong attack on the Chekiang line at Liuho.

The attack, according to first reports reaching here, is one of the fiercest yet launched by the Kiangsu attackers.

feel that the United States navy is not far below the standard set by the Washington naval treaty and would not be led to believe that the navy was going to pieces until he had been convinced of such a condition after a thorough survey of the entire naval establishment.

Awaiting Wilbur

Further conferences on questions of naval policy, including the budget for next year, will be held after Secretary of the Navy Wilbur arrives. He was recalled from San Diego, Cal., yesterday by the president.

The chief question at issue is whether or not the administration should approve a reduction of approximately $50,000,000 in the naval estimates for the fiscal year 1925-26, including a cut of $10,000,000 from the sum estimated to be needed for the maintenance of the naval air fleet.

BARONESS WARNS OF REDS' MENACE

Urges Exchange Members to Guard Constitution as Precious Gift

"Bolshevism and the Constitution" was the topic of an address delivered by Baroness Ottilie de Ropp of Glendale before the Exchange club at the Masonic Temple today, in which she sounded a warning against the United States entering into a closer relationship with the soviet government, and in which she urged the people of this country to stand on guard for their most precious possession, the constitution that has paved the way to America's present greatness.

The baroness produced copies of the insignia worn by members of the Young Communists' Internationale, taken from some of the pupils in one of the Los Angeles schools, and a reproduction of a cartoon published in an I. W. W. paper urging a boycott of California.

Pleads for Bonds

O. M. Newby, representing the executive committee of the Citizens' Bond committee, made a plea for support of all the bond issues that will be on the ballot in the special election on September 30, and at the close of his talk the club unanimously endorsed the projects that are to be submitted to the voters.

The Exchange club bowling team will meet the Hollywood club's team at the Recreation Center alleys on Thursday night.

William Baker presided in the absence of R. E. Johnston, the president, who is now attending the national convention at Nashville, Tenn., and it was decided to appoint a committee to send telegrams to Mr. Johnston and to the leading officials of the convention, that would tend to bring Glendale to the attention of the delegates from all over the country.

"Posey" Paseman won today's attendance prize.

Dr. Theodore P. Noehle and Dr. James A. Belyea, who have been absent from the club meetings for a long time, were welcomed back again today.

Emergency calls have been sent out for more burros for pack trains to carry food and water to the men, as many of the animals have become exhausted and are unable to continue their labors.

Monrovia Is Saved

The city of Monrovia was saved from the forest fire, which has been raging in its vicinity for fifteen days, sweeping down on it today when the wind died down and large crews of men constructing fire breaks were able to complete their defenses.

The town was made safe only for a time, however, officials said, for a change in the wind would sweep the flames over the fire breaks.

Backfiring for five miles on a seven-mile strip from Monrovia peak down the mountainside was completed today after fire fighters had worked constantly for nearly twenty-four hours.

Effective fire breaking is expected to put the fire under control within two days if winds are favorable, forestry officials said.

Brought Under Control

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Sept. 16.—The Kings mountain forest fire was reported under control here today after volunteers secured from the streets of this city checked the flames as they were endangering Bear gulch.

The fire was still burning on the other side of the ridge separating the fashionable Woodside district from the forest and brush areas.

Estimates placed the burned acreage at approximately 2,000.

city's growth in population, corresponding meter installation figures in the office of J. F. McIntyre, commercial agent, furnish an index that is reliable and show that the population of Glendale at the present time is not less than 54,000, based on a total of 13,501 electric meters in service at the end of August, 1924, at an average of 4 persons to the meter.

At the end of 1921 there were 7090 electric meters in service, Mr. McIntyre's records show; at the end of 1922, there were 9296 meters; and at the end of 1923, the number had increased to 11,768 meters. These figures show increases that correspond with those of kilowatt consumption furnished by Mr. Diederich, and the two sets tally to produce irrefutable evidence of this city's steady growth.

Successful Careers End Relations With Mexico Need Better Co-operation Mexican Independence Day

—By Gil A. Cowan—

Two famed residents of Southern California died yesterday. Neither was millionaire nor politician. Both were known in sporting circles as few others have been known.

Frank Chance, peer of baseball managers, and Jimmy Murphy, international record holder in auto racing, flicked from this firmament, one being taken by natural causes, the other dying in a race track crash.

Their performances will live long in men's memories. They were ideal types of the sporting fraternity. Their careers were successful. And their lives were honorable.

No more could be sought on this mortal coil.

Relations with Mexico are not what they should be. When sheriffs from Los Angeles captured kidnapers in Tia Juana and brought back a little girl stolen from her mother here a month ago they were unable to bring with them the criminals because a high Mexican official was denied the right to cross the international border line at 9 o'clock the night before.

If Mexicans desire to continue governing Lower California they had better cooperate with the United States in cleaning out all crooks. Otherwise there will be an argument in which Mexico will get the worst of it.

Incidentally, this is Mexican independence day. All Americans should share in the pleasure that a republic was born south of the Rio Grande. It is the ideal form of government and despite years of dictatorial rule Mexico is making the most of it.

Sometimes the Aryan races believe the Latins are slow to take advantage of opportunity. But it takes all sorts of people to make up the world. And Aryan aggressiveness in America has so speeded things that extermination of the race is probable unless we slow up a bit.

But combine Yankee speed with Mexican hardihood and you will get surprising results.

Just tell them you saw it in The Glendale Evening News, folks. It is the best compliment you can pay this representative metropolitan newspaper in "the fastest growing city in America."

ENGLISH ROUSED AT WHEAT PRICE

Blame American Speculators For Increase In Cost of 'Staff of Life'

LONDON, Sept. 16.—While American farmers exult in the sudden rise in the price of wheat, Englishmen are mourning and even becoming fearful.

With England almost entirely dependent upon the outside world for its wheat, flour and bread, any rapid increase in the price of these commodities is a serious one, and more serious while the nation is still in the midst of a trade depression with a permanent army of unemployed of more than a million.

Flour prices have already increased in England, and the price of bread is gradually being raised. The people are crying out in protest, and the newspapers are making a great deal of noise and flaunting charges of American speculation depriving English people of the staff of life.
